

I have taught for more than a decade at Delhi University in commerce stream. I have been teaching at Deakin University since 2004. I am an ADB Japan scholarship holder. My area of interest in research is Indian stock market; derivative markets; market efficiency and behavior finance. I have published in leading international journals in the field of finance and accounting. I have presented my research in various international conference both in the developed and developing countries. I have been quite actively involved in administrative roles in the university set up.